DETAILED ACTION

1. This office action acknowledges receipt of the following items from the Applicant:
The Specification, Claims, Abstract, Drawing and filed on 31 March 2004.
Oath or Declaration filed one 14 December 2004.
2. Claims 1-8 are pending.

Information Disclosure Statement

3. Acknowledgment is made of applicant's Information Disclosure Statement (IDS) Form PTO-1449, filed 31 March 2004. The information disclosed therein was considered.

Specification

4. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

5. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because it uses the phrase "disclosed, In one aspect," in lines 2-3 and "The method and system include" in line 4, which is implied. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

6. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

7. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

8. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Ooishi (P.G. Pubs No. 2004/0109348).

Regarding claim 5, Ooishi discloses, a magnetic memory (see FIG. 1) comprising:

a plurality of magnetic memory cells (see FIG. 2);

a bit line (BL, see FIG. 2), the plurality of magnetic memory cells being coupled to the bit line;

a plurality of digit lines (DL, see FIG. 2), the plurality of magnetic memory cells being associated with the plurality of digit lines;

a least one write circuit (Bit Line Drivers 11-12, Digit Line Drivers 17-18, current sources 13-16, see FIG. 7) configured to provide a bit line current in the bit line and to provided a plurality of digit currents in the plurality of digit lines in parallel at substantially the same time as the bit line current, the plurality of digit currents and the bit line current allowing the plurality of magnetic memory cells to be written to a plurality of states in parallel (see IDL and IBL between t1-t4 in FIG. 16, and paragraph [0076]).

Regarding claim 6, Ooishi also discloses, see FIG. 16 for reference, the bit line current is applied for first predetermined time (between t1 and t4) and the plurality of digit currents is provided for a second predetermined time (between t2 and t3) (if applying the concept of one bit line BL and 8 digit lines DLs as mentioned in paragraph [0076], IDL becomes IBL and vice versa).

Regarding claims 7-8, Ooishi does teach the first predetermined time t1-t4 is longer than the second predetermined time t2-t3, but not that the first predetermined time is 2 nanoseconds and second predetermined time is 1.6 nanoseconds.

However, it would have been obvious to one with ordinary skill in the art to realize that timing durations and pulse amplitudes in programming magnetic memory cells are inversely proportional and they are all for design choices. Therefore, the choices of having the first predetermined time 2 nanoseconds and second predetermined time 1.6 nanoseconds can be obtained by adjusting the amplitudes of IDL and IBL.

Regarding claims 1-4, they encompass the same scope of invention as to that of claims 5-8, except they draft in method format instead of apparatus format. The claims are therefore rejected for the same reason as set forth above.
